

I have XM radio because I commute between NJ and my home in PA. I'm a retired Sheriff's Lieutenant and life long resident of NJ who had to flee NJ because of the taxes on my pension, property and the air I breath. Anyway, where I now live XM is the only reception I get that covers the areas I need not to mention I don't need to flip channels increasing the risk of an accident. XM gives me steady coverage of rtes 80, 78, and 287 with no blackout areas or channel changes. Leave it alone. I pay for it, the people that don't want to pay can put up with the poor reception or no reception of the free over the air stations. It's a matter of free choice. I made mine.
